SARAH B. CONKLING, will be sold at THE AMERICAN ART GALLERIES on the AFTERNOON OF THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 9TH, at 2.30 o'clock.

CONDITIONS OF SALE

1. The highest Bidder to be the Buyer, and if any dispute arise between two or more Bidders, the Lot so in dispute shall be immediately put up again and re-sold.

2. The Auctioneer reserves the right to reject any bid which is merely a nominal or fractional advance, and therefore, in his judgment, likely to affect the Sale injuriously.

3. The Purchasers to give their names and addresses, and to pay down a cash deposit, or the whole of the Purchase-money, if required, in default of which the Lot or Lots so purchased to be immediately put up again and re-sold.

4. The Lots to be taken away at the Buyer's Expense and Risk within twenty-four hours from the conclusion of the Sale, and the remainder of the Purchase-money to be absolutely paid, or otherwise settled for to the satisfaction of the Auctioneer, on or before delivery; in default of which the undersigned will not hold themselves responsible if the lots be lost, stolen, damaged, or destroyed, but they will be left at the sole risk of the Purchaser.

5. While the undersigned will not hold themselves responsible for the correctness of the description, genuineness, or authenticity of, or any fault or defect in, any Lot, and make no Warranty whatever, they will, upon receiving previous to date of Sale trustworthy expert opinion in writing that any Painting or other Work of Art is not what it is represented to be, use every effort on their part to furnish proof to the contrary; failing in which, the object or objects in question will be sold subject to the declaration of the aforesaid expert, he being liable to the Owner or Owners thereof, for damage or injury occasioned thereby.

6. To prevent inaccuracy in delivery, and inconvenience in the settlement of the Purchases, no Lot can, on any account, be removed during the Sale.

7. Upon failure to comply with the above conditions, the money deposited in part payment shall be forfeited; all Lots uncleared within one day from conclusion of Sale shall be re-sold by public or private sale, without further notice, and the deficiency (if any) attending such re-sale shall be made good by the defaulter at this Sale, together with all charges attending the same. This Condition is without prejudice to the right of the Auctioneer to enforce the contract made at this Sale, without such re-sale, if he thinks fit.

8. The undersigned are in no manner connected with the business of the cartage or packing and shipping of purchases, and although they will afford to purchasers every facility for employing careful carriers and packers, they will not hold themselves responsible for the acts and charges of the parties engaged for such services.

1822—

LA NOTE À PAYER

A STURDY citizen of middle age has been taking a repast in a modest hostelry, and while he is smoking his church-warden after his cup of coffee the waitress brings him his bill, which he examines with anxious care to the amusement of the girl. The costumes are of the time of the French Revolution, and the accessories place the scene somewhere in Flanders.

SCHEVENINGEN

A DIAGONAL line from the left of the foreground divides the sea from the shore. On the edge of it is a group of women in white caps, looking out toward a couple of fishing vessels, that lie on the pale blue water, their tawny sails hanging loose against the sooty gray sky. On the right of the foreground a woman in white cap, drab cloak, and black skirt stands near four others, who are sitting round a pile of fish.

1863—

ON THE BANKS OF THE CANAL

Water Color

From the left of the foreground the grayish white water stretches diagonally, until it makes a turn to the left, round a point of land on which are seen red-roofed buildings and six small trees. At the turn of the canal appears a black boat, in which a man in blue coat stands working an oar. Across the background extends a cliff-like hill, topped with a line of dark woods.

Signed at the lower left, Van Oosterzee, '92.

Height, 6½ inches; length, 12 inches.

Owner, Arthur A. Crosby.

AUGUST VON PETTENKOFEN

1821—1889

HUNGARIAN VILLAGE

Water Color

In the centre of the sandy street a hog is routing, and three more stand near a man, who is sitting on the right. Farther back behind him is a cottage with pigeons clustering on its roof, that projects beyond the walls, so as to form a veranda supported upon posts. Between two of them some linen is floating from a line. On the left of the foreground stands a saw-horse, with a cloth over it, in front of a thatched rickety wooden shed.

Signed at the lower right, Pettenkofen, '85.

Height, 9½ inches; length, 14½ inches.

Owner, L. Crist Delmonico.

THE STUDIO

The easel is on the right of the composition, below a high window draped with a green velvet curtain. The painter sits in the centre, holding brush and palette, dressed in plum-red trunks and a jacket which opens over a full white shirt, the latter also showing through the slash of the sleeve. Against the wall at the back stands a high carved bureau, while a paint-box lies upon a stool in front of the easel.

STAG HUNT

At the back of a sward, which slopes down from the right, the trunks and darkly bunched foliage of a row of oaks stand out against the warm amber light of an evening sky, streaked with purple. On the left of the foreground a white stag in flight throws up his head, as a hound, racing beside him, strives to seize his flank. They have just crossed a brook in the centre, beyond which to the right appear two horsemen galloping, with spears in their hands. In the distance on the crest of a hill, to the right, is visible a house.

THE TURKEY-DRIVER

Water Color

A girl, with a pale pink kerchief wound round her head, wearing a tawny-colored apron over her blue skirt, and carrying a basket on her right arm, in her other hand holds a stick, with which she directs the progress of some turkeys. They are streaming across to the right: four black ones, headed by a white. Beyond them stands a clump of pine-trees, between the stems and foliage of which appears a hill that slopes down to some water in the distance. A dark blue ridge of hills lies low across the horizon.

Signed at the lower left, Ch. Jacque.

FÉLIX ZIEM

1821—

SUNSET—STAMBOUL

From the right of the composition the narrow edging of foreshore gradually broadens as it crosses the picture, and then curves round in a loop, recrossing the picture in the distance. Here some sails are faintly visible against the rosy horizon, and the dove-gray forms of domes and minarets, one of the latter soaring through the primrose of the middle sky toward the clear blue above. In the forepart of the expanse of blue water are two boats, in one of which three men stoop, as if paying out a net, while in the other a man stands, plying an oar.

RIVER AND LANDSCAPE

Water Color

THE blue water extends in a broad stream from the front of the picture, separated by a tongue of land from another sheet of water on the left. Half-way back in the main stream is a boat with a figure in it. Beyond this, where a dark range of hills stretches across the horizon, the water makes a turn to the right, disappearing behind the projection of the right shore. At the back of this are slaty-colored mountains, but the shore itself is a grassy slope, descending abruptly in the foreground, as if quarried out, and in the hollow at the foot stands a house.

IN THE HARVEST FIELD

A GIRL in the foreground is raking up the barley, a bunch of which a man to her left, who has his back to us, is lifting upon a pitchfork, while a youth faces him with a sheaf in his arms. The girl wears a red, white-spotted kerchief over her head, a black bodice over a white chemisette, a dull plum-colored skirt and light blue apron. Fastened round the front of the man's blue trousers are leather leggings. At the back of the group the barley is still standing, and farther off on the right is a clump of willows.

HIGHLAND CATTLE—SCOTLAND

A NUMBER of shaggy cattle have been driven from the upland pasture to drink in a narrow loch among the hills, and they eagerly seek the refreshment of the cool water. Across the loch is a range of rugged mountains draped in thin clouds of drifting mist, which roll along the glen from a cloudbank in the distance.

SCOTCH HIGHLANDS

In the centre of the foreground is a narrow path, along which a shepherd and two lambs approach. It disappears in a clump of dark green trees, and on each side of it are rolling slopes covered with the green bushes and lavender blossoms of heather. Beyond the knoll on the left is a rising ridge of paler green turf, covered on its lower part with trees, that dip down and meet the wooded slope on the right of the picture. In front of their point of meeting is a small stretch of blue water, streaked with white; and beyond it mount the yellowish-green ridges of a mountain, whose top is veiled with slaty clouds.

ON THE CLIFFS

A number of horses and cows of different colors and reposing in various attitudes occupy the foreground near a large open boat, which has been drawn up on the meadow. Beyond the group is a large barge, and the masts and sails of several craft are seen against a summer sky. In the distance on the right is a chalk headland.

SAND CARTS

ALMOST in the centre of the sandy foreground, coming toward us, three-quarters in view, is a white horse, drawing a two-wheeled cart, in which a boy sits. Farther back on the left is another cart with a brown horse, beside which a boy walks. The sea beyond is curling up in long olive-green waves, whitened upon the top. On the right four gulls are flying low above the water.

A HILL PASTURE

THE hillside slopes down from the left, with a view beyond on the right of a blue valley. About half-way down its descent a rocky formation crops up upon the brink, and on the grass near it lies a shepherd, around whom his charges are dotted. One sheep is alone toward the right of the foreground; two others lie nearer the centre. On the left a red cow with white legs and throat and face stands facing toward the right with her head held high, and behind her a red one is lying down, with her white face stretched along the grass.

SAYING GRACE

At a round table, supported on three legs, a man and a woman are seated, with their heads slightly inclined in prayer. He is seated on the left, holding a black cap on his knees, his figure, seen in profile, being clad in a blue shirt and yellowish-brown trousers. The old lady, in black cap and gown, with a little white lawn showing at her neck and down the body of her dress, faces us on the farther side of the table. A plate lies before each, and in the centre of the table is a white bowl filled with steaming potatoes. On the floor to the right of the fireplace, which forms the background, is a pair of sabots.

A SHEEP PASTURE

The sheep are grouped to the right of three birch trunks, which occupy the centre of the grassy spot. Between them appears the figure of the shepherdess leaning upon her staff. She is dressed in slate-colored clothes, with blue apron fastened up on one side. Behind her a slat-fence extends across the picture, willow trees growing beside it, and a view appearing beyond it of a sandy hill. The pale gray-blue sky is veiled with white vapor.

BESIDE THE BABY CARRIAGE

In the centre of the foreground of scrubby grass and sand a girl sits knitting beside the front wheel of a baby carriage. The group is seen in profile; the girl facing to the right, clad in a white cap, lavender body and a black and white striped skirt, with a black apron. The baby, in a white cap and lavender shawl, leans forward to play with some flowers in a basket, which is visible between the rails of the carriage. Over the sea beyond a few gulls are flying.

PREPARING BREAKFAST

Soft light illumines the trees and brick church out of doors, but penetrates feebly the window, under which a man and a woman are seated on opposite sides of an octagonal table. The former, on the left, in a white cap, red kerchief and dull blue apron, is working a coffee-grinder which she steadies on her lap. Her figure fronts us, while the man is seen in profile, holding a pipe in his mouth and resting the other hand on his knee. A brass kettle stands on the table, and from the ceiling above it hangs a modern oil lamp.

SUNRISE ON THE NORTH SEA

In the foreground are two drab spits of sand; an old anchor on one, a buoy float on the other. Beyond these stretches the gray-greenish water, lined with white, and lying some distance out are two fishing vessels. Their hulls are almost black, and the nearer one has a single brownish drab sail, hanging loose, the farther all its canvas spread, including a square topsail. Two distant sails appear on the horizon. Here a streak of crimson separates the water and sky, the latter filled with gray clouds, that are split in the centre, where the light is strongest.

MORNING AFTER THE SOIRÉE

A one-story house stretches back from the left, and at right angles to its end is a row of vehicles, black against the cold, slaty-gray sky. Its struggling light sharpens the patches of snow, which are scattered over the foreground. Inside the open door is a warm light, shining upon a woman's figure and various comestibles displayed upon a sideboard, while on the threshold stands a cook in white costume, gesticulating. Upon the benches that flank the doorway sit some officers, and other persons are lying on the ground.
